IMPORTANT NOVELTIES

New RGPD

- Accountability
- Privacy Impact Assessment
- Data Protection Officer
- New conditions for international Data Transfers
- Privacy by Design/Privacy by Default
- Right to be forgotten
- Right to Data portability
- Reinforcement of Data Subject’s rights
- Information and consent
- Right to Data portability
Some countries already have this figure or a similar one, like Germany (“Beauftragten für den Datenschutz”), France or Sweden;

It is considered as an essential figure with respect to the accountability principle;

The DPO’s independence must be guaranteed, therefore the DPO will have to report to the highest level;

The DPO will ensure that the rights and freedoms of the data subjects are unlikely to be adversely affected by the processing operations;

The DPO will be appointed in consideration of his or her legal knowledge and his professional expertise in the field of privacy;

The tasks of the DPO are:

- Inform and counsel the controller or processor and their employees;
- Supervise the compliance of the GDPR and any other applicable privacy related law;
- Offer counsel with regard to the Privacy Impact Assessment;
- Cooperation with the Data Protection Authority;
- Act as the contact point of the Data Protection Authority;
DPO UNDER THE GDPR - WHO IS REQUIRED TO APPOINT A DPO

- The processing is carried out by a public authority;

- The core activities of the controller or processor consist of processing operations which require regular and systematic processing of data subjects on a large scale; or

- The core activities of the controller or processor consist of processing on a large scale of sensitive data or data relating to criminal convictions / offences.

  - ✓ Companies should already evaluate if they need to appoint a Data Protection Officer and if they do, they should decide whether is more convenient to appoint an internal or an external position.

  - ✓ If your company does not meet the requirements for a mandatory DPO, it may still appoint one.
